Not illustrated. 1895 Excerpt: .but where it rests with the good judgment or the ignorance of the relatives to decide whether or not a person appearing to be dead is to be buried alive or not, for the certificate of a doctor or undertaker can give no assurance that in an apparently dead man the soul has departed from the body, as long as the only reliable sign of it, the decomposition of the vital organs, has not begun. LXXIV. Madame de P, aged eighteen years and subject to hysteria, apparently died, and for forty hours she presented all the signs of real death. All possible means of restoring her to life were taken, but proved of no avail. Five physicians of Lyons were called in, and they finally agreed, positively, that the lady was really dead. The funeral preparations were made; but owing to the supplications of a sister...
